

Visualizing the data :

This is Archie. He is a rare Norwegian Pouncing Corgo. Lives in the tall grass. You never know when one may strike. 12/10

alyssa

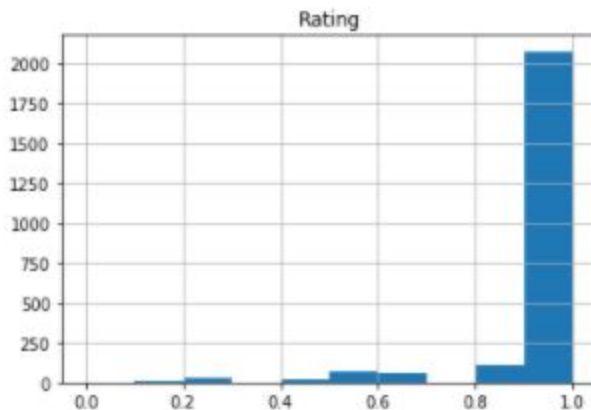

112

3.7K

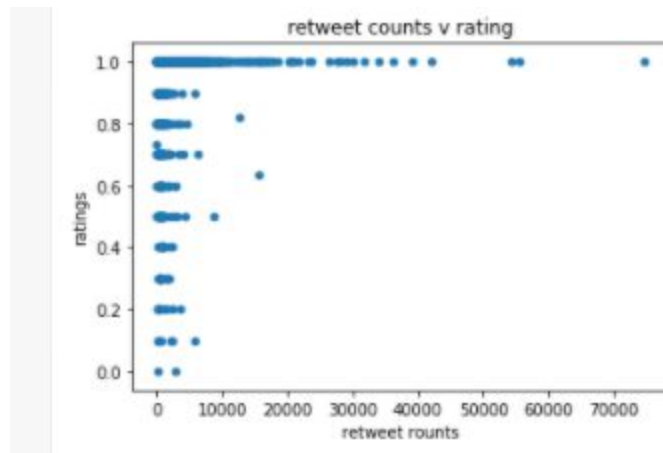

22.8K

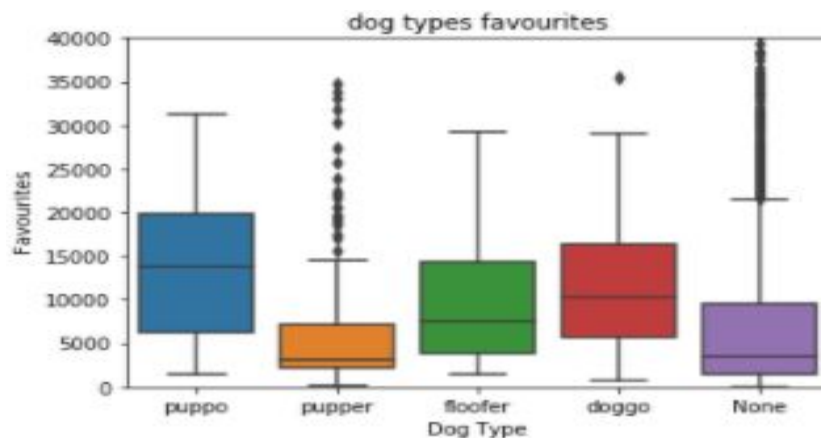

This tweet shows a archie type dog with a rate of 12/10 as we visualize the rating of all the dogs in all the data sets as this

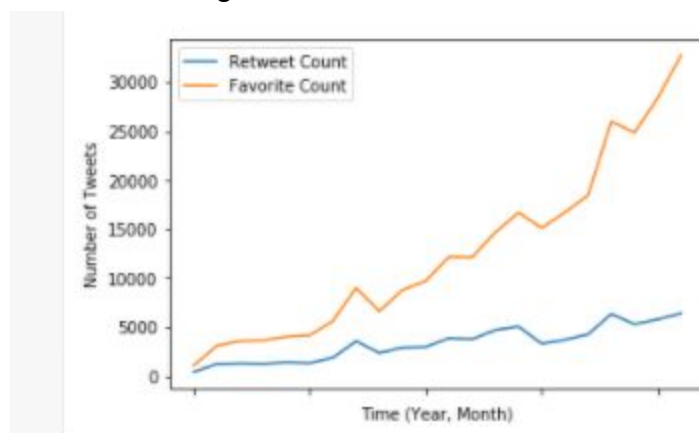

This visualization shows that most of the tweets rates are 10 and above for about 2000 tweet and rest is having less than 10 and they are about 250 all.

This shows that most people retweets are for the dogs whose rating are 10 and above and the other dogs whose rates are beyond this don't get a lot of retweets.

This one is for the types of dogs in the tweets and how we see that how people react to each type of the dog we see in this we see the puppo gets high rating and great favourites rating.

This analyse shows the number of favourite , retweets tweets per time ,month and year and how this coincide.